

Testimony from Taiwan:

Ahlee, an Indonesian woman living in Taiwan, regularly attended church. Three years previously, she had gone home to Indonesia where a neighbor encouraged her to obtain a protective amulet. Ahlee still went to church and read her Bible but grew very little in her faith. One day she met a former Buddhist in church. He explained that he had also had an amulet, but he threw it away when he realized it was hindering his Christian life. Ahlee followed his advice and threw away her amulet. She put her faith in Christ alone, and her life was transformed.

Two Testimonies from Xinxiang Province, China:

A Christian studying in Xinjiang was housed with a local young man. His roommate had recently become a believer after meeting Jesus in a dream, but he did not understand the Bible. The Christian became his teacher, and every day they immersed themselves in Scripture. Later the Christian went back to Xinjiang and discovered the man had started a group of believers. He was afraid that his Muslim family would find out and kill him. Please pray for him.

Also from Xinxiang:

An Uyghur brother read Matthew 6:12 "Forgive us our debts, as we have forgiven our debtors." He gathered together his debtors and told them: "Since Jesus Christ forgives my debt, I will forgive all your debts too." Immediately they all believed Jesus.

Testimony from Kyrgyzstan

Some Christians went to pray at a Kyrgyz hospital. The administrator said, "I cannot allow you inside our hospital building, but I cannot pass up the opportunity that some people might be healed." Many patients were brought outside, including an old woman. She said, "One year ago I was lying in my bed and a man walked through the wall. He said, 'My name is Jesus. You don't know me now, but in one year, I will send my servant to tell you about me.'" She went on, "Today is exactly one year since and you have told me about Jesus. But I am a Muslim. If I receive this Jesus, my only family left will turn against me." After talking more with the Christians, the woman turned to faith in Christ and was healed.
